

Reception class newsletter

7th October 2022

We've been learning all about autumn this week in Reception. The children have loved spotting signs of autumn and talking about seasonal change. If you and your child see any signs of autumn when you're out and about, we'd love to hear about them. Perhaps you could send your child in with some of the autumn treasures which they've found, to show to the class. Or perhaps you could send us a picture on 'Evidence me' to tell us what they've found.

We'll be looking for signs of autumn on our walk to the library next Tuesday. Please, please, please can we ask any parents or grandparents who are free on Tuesday 11th to come along and help us on the walk? Just let one of the Reception team know that you're coming along. We'd be so grateful for as many extra hands as possible.

We had a visit from the school nursing team this week to talk about oral hygiene and the importance of hand washing.

They read a story and taught the children a song. The children should have all brought home a little tooth care kit. Please let us know if you didn't get one as we have plenty of spares.

Have a lovely weekend everyone,
The Reception team.
