Week ending 3rd March 2023

World book day special!

Reception class just love a story, so we decided to make World book day 2023 a really special occasion! We started our World book day activities a day early on Wednesday with our trip to Seven Stories, the National centre for children's books. The children all dressed up as a favourite story character and the teachers dressed in their pyjamas to be 'The Midnight gang'. The children were super excited before they even got on the coach!

At the centre we had time to explore before we had our story workshop. The staff told us all about the seven different types of story and then we developed our own stories based on Fluffy the penguin. We acted these stories out for everyone to watch. We read some of the 'Mog' books and the children loved listening to 'The Queen's knickers'!

We want to thank our amazing parent helpers for all of their hard work on the day. We couldn't have done it without you!

The World book day fun continued on Thursday. Everyone dressed up again. We were lucky enough to have a visit from author Teresa Dewhurst who read her picture book 'Slug' to the class. How amazing to meet a real life author! We read loads of our favourite stories, made our own books and drew some fantastic illustrations.

Friday was book swap day. All of the children should have brought home a new book. If they didn't, just catch one of the Reception team and we can sort this out for you.

Friday was also our 'Big Lent walk' to raise money for CAFOD. As always, we think that Reception class were the most enthusiastic and energetic of all!

What a busy week! The children have been amazing and have enjoyed every minute. We hope they all have a lovely peaceful weekend to recharge their batteries ready to start again on Monday!
